Sentence Sermons by El Paso Ministers

Is church attendance worth while for the average man? Can he not grow a strong character on the golf links, at the club or out in his automobile? Does he need to go once a week to have a mere man tell him how to live? Here is a great misconception. No preacher tells another man how to live. He only interprets what Almighty God says about the weighty business of making a life, and thousands of years of history bear witness to the fact that man cannot disregard the word of God and be anything but weak. It is as if a man would be strong but refuses to eat; as if he would be learned but refuses to study; as if he would see but refuses to open his eyes. The nation that habitually neglects the church has in it the seeds of disintegration and death.—Rev. M. E. Hudson, First Baptist Church.

Our souls cannot be redeemed from sin without the sacrificial suffering of Christ. Without the shedding of blood there is no remission. "Ye were redeemed not with silver or gold from your vain manner of life, but by the precious blood of Christ, a lamb without spot or blemish." Through faith in his blood is the only way to pardon and peace.—Rev. George W. McCall, Central Baptist Church.

In the great battle for life eternal, the Christian must contend against his enemies, the devil, the world, and his own sinful flesh. To overcome them, he must remain steadfast in the faith, believe in Christ Jesus, and continually implore the Lord to strengthen him. If he depends upon his own strength and ability, he will fail to obtain the crown of life, as St. Paul says to Timothy: "And if a man also strive for mastery, yet is he not crowned, except he strive lawfully." (1 Tim. 2:5).—Rev. A. H. Schmidt, Zion's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

To live a life not wholly devoted to selfish ends is the age long challenge of Christ. At no time more than now does this challenge need to be accepted forth. The unselfish life of Christ is a constant rebuke of the selfishness, grasping and self-seeking of our day.—Rev. Rufus C. Baker, Orchard Park Methodist Church.

Jesus said: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me." Matt. xvi, 24. To say yes to Christ is to say no to oneself. The world is badly in need of men of this caliber, men who are strong enough to say no to themselves, no to the world and yes to Christ.—Rev. Henry C. Schneider, Altura Presbyterian Church.

Sanitation processes are essential for the world's cleansing from filth and death dealing diseases. Yet personal application of laws governing such must take place. The best aid to healthful conditions is sun light. That which destroys both physical and spiritual love the darkness. The devil does not want his children to see themselves in heaven's light, but if you are tired of sin get in to the light which is Christ. "I am the light of the world." (Continued on next page.)
